Packaging and assembly

Our large workforce can help your business by packaging and assembling your products.

There are several reasons why this option could be effective for your business:

- > Savings on staffing and recruitment, and freight and travel costs
- > Large reliable and experienced workforce across the metropolitan offering flexibility and timeliness
- > Qualified and experienced production and management staff

Blister packaging

Blister packaging is a cost effective way to display your retail products. Retailers prefer blister packaging because it offers a tamper proof package that can be displayed as a hang-sell item. Blister packaging also ensures your products retain a neat appearance when they are on display.

Blister packaging is widely used for any hang sell product that is found in major stores and outlets and includes such items as refills, stationery, electrical products, computer accessories, craft supplies, cosmetics, parts and accessories.

Total packaging solutions

Our experience in the packaging industry extends to other packaging services including heat sealing and shrink wrapping. If you are looking for a complete solution to your packaging needs, however big or small, make Workpower your first port of call.

Many businesses contract Workpower to assemble and finish their display packs, or to bag or bottle their own products. We have extensive experience in the assembly and finishing of wrapped confectionery and condiment gift packs; seasoning packs and bottles; showbags; blister packs; art and craft products and harm reduction kits.

Our staff are experienced in all aspects of packaging and filling and will work closely with you to ensure your end product is of the highest quality and produced in accordance with your exact specifications.
